Birdman Who Expects to Fly to Brazil Given Rousing Welcome at Port City.

May Visit Atlanta.

Brunswick, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Paul Redfern, who made a non-stop flight from Detroit to Brunswick today in an airplane in which he plans to pilot to South America from here, may make a trial flight to Atlanta next week, it was unofficially stated here tonight.

While Redfern and his backers would not say definitely that the trip to Atlanta would be made, yet it is known that such a trip has been discussed here.

Brunswick, Ga., August 5.—(AP)—Paul Redfern, who expects to make a non-stop flight from Brunswick to South America, landed safely here at 7:36 p. m. (eastern time), just 9 hours 46 minutes after leaving Detroit this morning.

He piloted the airplane home in which he expects to make the trip to Brazil.

Taking off from the northern city at 9:40 a. m. (eastern time) today, Redfern averaged 93.11 miles per hour for the approximately 850-mile trip. Redfern made a near perfect landing as he brought the plane to earth on the sandy beach, hard surfaced and smoothed by a receding tide, and missed by only a matter of a few feet, the landing spot selected by him before he left for Detroit.

As the "Port of Brunswick" at 7:44 p. m., circled over Brunswick, the flier was observed to be descending, apparently to get a more accurate survey of the landing field and to check his bearings.

Then, as he circled, preparatory to alighting the human chain of uniformed guardsmen, furnished from the two local companies of state militia was only partially successful in checking the forward surge of the eager thousands, who, seemingly unaware of the danger both to the fliers and themselves, threatened to swarm prematurely upon the beach.

Redfern preceded only a few minutes, a brewing thunderstorm which broke within less than five minutes after his arrival.

Redfern's first words as he arrived were: "Are we on time?"

On assurance that he was a few minutes of schedule he announced that his trip from Detroit had been without a bit of difficulty.

With Redfern was Eddie Stinson

Coolidge Removes Doubt of Intention Not To Run Again

Executive Tells Newspaper Correspondents He Will Seek Rest on His Vermont Farm.

NO PLAN TO CALL
SECOND ARMS MEET

Would Not Be Time for Such Meeting Before
His Retirement, He Says.

Rapid City, S. D., August 5.—(United News.)—President Coolidge has removed whatever doubt may have existed as to the sincerity of his sudden announcement Tuesday that he did not choose to run for president in 1928.

Although declining to amplify his statement, he let it be known in his first regular newspaper conference since the announcement that he did not intend to call a disarmament conference in 1929 because his retirement on March 4 of that year would permit of insufficient time for such a meeting.

Simultaneously he made known that he did not yet begin to think about what he would do after his retirement, and suggested that work usually has come to him. He indicated he has not had much trouble finding something to do. It is expected he will go to his Vermont farm for a rest.

No "One-Man Country."
Other evidence of Mr. Coolidge's sentiment was offered by O. H. P. Shelley, former republican national committeeman, who talked with the president this afternoon.

Shelley said the president told him: "This is not a one-man country. There are plenty of good men in this country. Ten years is a long time for any one man to be president."

Shelley and a group of Montana political leaders expressed the hope that the president would change his mind and run.

The press conference centered on the president's expectation to retire. It was made known that Coolidge has no plan to call the nations into another disarmament meeting. There may arise some occasion before the president retires when the time is propitious for another conference, but at this moment there is no plan for such a move.

In Spirited Mood.
Coolidge feels that it is yet too early to tell what will be the effect of the failure of the Geneva meeting. He stands by the careful statements of Hugh Gibson, head of the American delegation at Geneva, and Secretary of State Kellogg, who have analyzed the American position against Great Britain's demand for larger cruiser strength.

The president things, however, that failure should have no influence upon the peace of the world, or the friendly relationship between this country, Great Britain and Japan. The failure

$2,000,000 PAID TOBACCO GROWERS IN SOUTH GEORGIA

Sales in Four Days Totaled 10,000,000 Pounds.
20-Cent Average Price Maintained.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Sales and prices on the bright leaf tobacco markets in Georgia the first week of the season, which opened Tuesday, held up well on all markets.

Compilation from available figures on the week's sales tonight showed a total of 9,540,720 pounds had been sold, with the leaf on the missing markets probably making the first week's sales in excess of 10,000,000 pounds. Farmers in 60 south Georgia counties shared in the distribution of $1,856,922.04 cash paid for the week, with missing markets to be added to this figure, which, on the basis of existing prices, would place the total of money for the first week's sales at approximately $2,000,000.

While prices have ranged up to $125 per hundred pounds for the best leaf, with a number of sales at 50 cents and above, the general average has been in the neighborhood of $20 per hundred.

The color of the leaf this year is exceptional, a good, but not a dark, color, and the texture and weight of the leaf was hurt to some extent by unfavorable weather which also reduced the yield.

Business in the south Georgia belt has taken on new life with the opening of the tobacco markets, and farmers as a whole are reported as well pleased with prices and sales conditions.

SALES TAX LOSES IN HOUSE, 160-19

Discovery of Alleged
'Joker' Suddenly Throws
Vote Against Amendment.

With the general sales tax amendment defeated by the overwhelming vote of 160 to 19, the house members in the second Saturday meeting of the present session will attempt to repeal the general tax bill to a vote in that body today so that the way will be cleared next week for the consideration of the general appropriations bill, which is one of the most important measures introduced during each session.

Defeat of the sales tax bill by such an overwhelming vote was due to the discovery of an alleged "joker" which exempted public service corporations from the tax under a section of the code of 1910. The alleged "joker" was disclosed to the house by Representative Flynn, of Spaulding. After his speech the roll call was continued and virtually all the remaining members voted against the bill.

At the afternoon session Representative Bloch, of Bibb, one of the authors of the bill, denied that an attempt had been made to place a joker clause in the measure and said the amendment under discussion was placed in the bill to comply with the code covering the exclusion of certain railroads and other corporations which are required to pay taxes in other channels.

Representative Bloch made a motion that the house action on the sales tax be reconsidered, but when the vote was taken the house declined to reconsider its action by a vote of 84 to 64. Almost the entire day Friday was devoted to the discussion of the sales tax and in taking the vote, a roll call vote in which various members took advantage of the three minutes allowed them to explain their ballot, and it was early in the afternoon before the vote was finally tabulated, showing 160 to 19 against the passage of the amendment.

Ask Confirmation.
One of the most interesting developments in the senate Friday was the presentation of a petition to the members of that body by the tenth congressional district members of the state democratic executive committee

Paul Redfern, who flew from Detroit to Brunswick Friday, is shown here being congratulated by Hanford MacNider, assistant secretary of war, upon his decision to attempt an airplane flight from the Georgia port city to Brazil. Inset also shows close-up of Redfern. Redfern piloted the machine in which he proposes to make the South American non-stop flight from Brunswick at a rate of 93.11 miles an hour without a stop.

WOMAN IS SLAIN IN GOTHAM TUBE

Body of Mrs. Emma Weigand Found in City Hall Subway Station Restroom.

New York, August 5.—(United News.)—While midday subway trains roared past through the semi-darkness, and thousands of office workers hastened to and from lunch in the streets overhead, Mrs. Emma Weigand, 38, was murdered in the women's room of the city hall station of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit lines.

The scene of the crime was near the heart of New York's financial district deep under City Hall square. Because of the combinations of sound, peculiar to the station at that time of day, the report of the fatal shot was heard by no one.

No weapon was found in the room, and the nature of the wound in the right breast indicates that it was not self-inflicted. Moreover detectives point out that the body had been dragged from the first to the third of the booths in the room. Medical Examiner Gonales said Mrs. Weigand had not been walked after being shot.

Discoverer Screams.
When Miss Sarah Lipschitz, of Brooklyn, went into the room to wash her hands she noticed a woman's feet under one of the half doors of a booth. Closer examination revealed a woman's body crumpled up. Miss Lipschitz rushed out into the station screaming.

Police found the victim on the polished floor with blood streaming from the right breast.

Detectives were informed that a tall man was seen running excitedly up the steps near the Woolworth building at the end of the station. His haste was so apparent that several persons stopped to look at him.

Mrs. Weigand was the mother of three children, Ruth, 15; Frank, 14, and Dorothy, 7. Her mother, Mrs. Frieda Ahles, a widow with whom she had been living, told police that Mrs. Weigand accompanied Dorothy to a hospital Friday morning to have the child's tonsils removed, and that the hospital reported the arrival of the child.

Mrs. Weigand had been married to Frank Weigand for 16 years. Two years ago they separated, according to

Aged Father Of Vanzetti Still Hopeful

Little Italian Village Believes Bartolomeo Is Innocent.

Villa Falletto, Italy, August 5.—(United News.)—"I hope the last word has not been said," the 80-year-old father of Bartolomeo Vanzetti, said to the United News today.

Completely deaf, the aged man sat tremblingly holding two letters he had received today from his condemned son. One was mailed July 14; the other July 18.

"Lowell and Stratton appeared to me to be prejudiced," one of them said to be prejudiced, "one of them said to be prejudiced," one of them said to be prejudiced.

"I have known him since boyhood," said the parish priest, summarizing the village view. "He has somewhat advanced ideas, but he is an honest, kindhearted man."

"The decision fills the soul with doubt and grief," the newspaper declares, "the fact that for seven years Sacco and Vanzetti have been between life and death, with a sword of damocles above their heads, was sufficient expiation of whatever may have been held against them. They were dying a little each day. The sentence to the electric chair is but the last, cowardly act in the turbulent atmosphere in which their trial was conducted. America as administered the justice of liberty, supreme among the goddesses, which cannot and must not be discussed. But putting aside justice and liberty, we believe an act of clemency never could have been more opportune, more justified, or wiser, than in the present case."

The death sentence is not imposed in Italy.

IL DUCE TO MAKE NO PLEA FOR REDS

'Italian Government Can Do Absolutely Nothing,' Moscow Center of Protest Storm.

BY THOMAS B. MORGAN.
Rome, August 5.—(United News.) Premier Benito Mussolini will not intervene in any way in behalf of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, a government spokesman informed the United News officially Friday.

"The Italian government can do absolutely nothing," the government spokesman said to the United News.

"The trial of Sacco and Vanzetti was an American internal question in which Italy cannot interfere. No statement of Italy's position will be made—absolutely none."

But that Mussolini is not at variance with his fellow countrymen—who throughout Italy are centering their conversations on the Sacco-Vanzetti case—is indicated by the comment in Mussolini's organ, the Popolo d'Italia.

"The decision fills the soul with doubt and grief," the newspaper declares, "the fact that for seven years Sacco and Vanzetti have been between life and death, with a sword of damocles above their heads, was sufficient expiation of whatever may have been held against them. They were dying a little each day. The sentence to the electric chair is but the last, cowardly act in the turbulent atmosphere in which their trial was conducted. POLICE ORDERED TO RAID
COMMUNIST HEADQUARTERS

Deputy Commissioner Announces
That He Has "Absolute Evidence
Explosion Is Work of Sacco and Vanzetti Sympathizers."

BY HERBERT HADLEY.

(By Lensed Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, August 6.—Reprisals for the condemnation to death of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, international radicals, shook New York city's very foundations between 11 and 11:30 o'clock last night.

The B. M. T. subway station at 28th street and Broadway was wrecked by a cast iron bomb which injured many, one probably fatally, at 11:20 o'clock. Five minutes later the subway station of the I. R. T. at 28th and Fourth avenue was torn asunder by a similar bomb blast, with attendant casualties of many seriously hurt.

BOMB EXPLOSION DAMAGES CHURCH IN PHILADELPHIA

Police Find Can of Nitro-glycerine With Long Wire Attached in Basement of Building.

Philadelphia, August 5.—(AP)—A terrific explosion late tonight wrecked the basement of Emanuel Presbyterian church at Forty-second street and Girard avenue, shattered all the windows in the edifice and threw the neighborhood into a turmoil of excitement.

Police expressed the belief that a bomb had been hurled through a basement window of the church, but said this could not be definitely determined until the wreckage was cleared away.

Fire followed the blast, which occurred about midnight, but the quick response of a number of fire companies quickly extinguished the blaze. No one was injured.

A large hole was torn in the side wall of the church near the pavement and the explosion shook buildings within a radius of several blocks. The blast was heard throughout West Philadelphia.

The Rev. Edward S. Bowman, pastor of the church, is also a chaplain at the Eastern State penitentiary here. He was out of the city tonight.

Mrs. Bowman was unable to offer any explanation of the explosion. He said her husband had no enemies and had never discussed radical activities from his pulpit. She also said there was no discussion in the church.

Police found a can of nitroglycerine with a long wire attached in the basement of the church. They expressed the belief that those who threw the bomb had been frightened away before they could set off the nitroglycerine. A heavy guard of police was thrown about the church with orders to remain there through the night.

WINDOWS SHATTERED
FOR RADIUS OF MILE.
So great were these explosions that sidewalks were blown into streets and windows were shattered for a radius of a mile from each of the stations.

Hundreds were thrown from their beds in downtown hotels, persons walking on the street or in hotel lobbies were thrown down violently by the heavy concussion, and subway traffic was paralyzed on the lines which traverse the wrecked tubes.

At 1 o'clock this morning there were 14 injured accounted for, one of whom is expected to die. First reports had two killed outright.

Even as the police reserves from all downtown stations and firemen of the rescue squad were searching in the tons of debris in and about the two stations, looters went to work in stores on the streets above whose fronts were wrecked. Police made several arrests on looting charges and all but martial law prevailed in the bombed areas.

CAB EMPLOYEES DINE AS COMPANY GUESTS

More than 1,000 plates of good will were distributed Friday by the Atlanta Baggage & Cab company, Black and White and other allied branches of the same organization when members of general council, their friends and employees of the company participated in a barbecue given by officials of the concern.

The affair was staged amid rustic surroundings of the alluring Woodland Park inn and was pronounced a howling success by everybody from His Honor Mayor I. N. Ragdale to the most humble visitor.

Speeches were short, but the eating bout was a long-drawn-out affair. Mayor Pro Tem W. Guy Dobbs led the guests on the edibles at the noon luncheon and Mr. Ragdale performed the same duties at the 7 o'clock dinner.

Despite the fact that several scores of employees of the allied companies vied with the councilmen in the quantity of food consumed, the contest was declared a draw by A. L. Belle Isle, president of the company.

MOTHER FORCED TO MAKE BREW, COURT IS TOLD

Mrs. J. O. Farmer, of 645 Highland avenue, the mother of five children, was arraigned in recorder's court Thursday afternoon on a charge of making "home brew" and after telling the court that she was forced to do so in order to feed her children, was fined $15 and sentenced to 30 days in the stockade.

The sentence was suspended, however, after Rev. Russell K. Smith, pastor of the Church of the Epiphany, and A. P. Calhoun, of 402 Moreland avenue, told the court that they would see that she would not have to resort to such steps in the future.

July City Park Receipts Make New High Mark

July park department receipts set an all-time record, it was disclosed Friday by John A. White, chairman of the park committee of city council, when they hit a grand total of $14,614.32. This was an approximate gain of $2,000 over June, which, until that time was the all-time record.

Returns from the swimming pools were more than half the aggregate, being $8,129. This was in spite of the fact that all children under 14 years of age are admitted free of any charge, and indicates the popularity of Atlanta's municipally-owned bathing facilities.

The department also showed that it is in a healthy financial condition, having a balance of $70,035.73 in the treasury after expending $170,602.30 of the $241,538.03 appropriation.

"Parks and playgrounds of the city of Atlanta are in the best condition they have ever been," Mr. White said in complimenting L. L. Wallis, superintendent of parks, and his corps of assistants.

"We are preparing to ask Fulton county commissioners to assist the city in widening roadways in Piedmont and Grant parks in an effort to relieve the traffic congestion at these popular resorts. We believe the county would look favorably on such a plan. We are also planning to start at the earliest possible moment construction of a new golf house at Piedmont park. It is needed badly."

Following is a tabulation of receipts for the month of July:

Cyclorama	$2,266.80
Golf	2,825.75
Tennis	1,125.00
Swimming	8,129.00
Ponies	1,349.40
Miscellaneous	59.37
Total	$14,614.32

A. B. & C. RAILROAD MOVES ITS OFFICES

General offices of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad have been moved to the Henry Grady building, 26 Cain street, N. W. It was announced by officials of the road Saturday.

HOWELL APPEALS TO HIGHEST COURT TO ESCAPE CHAIR

Another appeal on the contention that there is no official in Georgia qualified to officiate at an execution under the provision of the state "electrocution act" was made Friday when John Howell, Macon, gave notice of his appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Howell was convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted for the murder of Tubby Green, Bibb county deputy sheriff, at the fall term of the Houston county superior court. He appealed to the Georgia supreme court for a new trial, but that tribunal upheld the decision of the lower court.

Howell contends that he has been denied due process of law in that the law requires his electrocution by the warden of the penitentiary, T. R. Giress, assistant attorney general, said today. It is contended that there is no warden at the state penitentiary, as it is contemplated under the provisions of the Georgia act; therefore, his electrocution by such warden would be in violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Woman Swallows Acid Then Jumps Into Well; Lives

Crafton, W. Va., August 5.—(AP)—Her throat burned with acid so that she could not cry out, Mrs. Gertrude Jones, 50, stood in a water well throughout the night with only her head above water, and this morning was rescued 13 hours after she had thrown herself into the well.

The woman was said to have swallowed the acid last night in a first attempt to end her life. She then went to the well and jumped into it, but the water was not deep enough to completely immerse her. The girl, unconscious and mortally wounded, clutched a revolver.

Film chiefs deplored the death of Mannion, only 20 years old, and vice president of Tec-Art studios, "who was respected and loved," according to one producer. Meanwhile, detectives were unable to learn more of the woman, who, they believe, shot Mannion and then ended her own life.

Mannion's business associates said he had known the girl about a year and a half and recently had tried to sever their acquaintanceship.

Little was known of her in Hollywood. Some of her friends believe her real name was Betty Montague and that she married a photographer named Harry Gottlieb, from whom she had separated. She had been employed at several photograph galleries as a retouch artist.

In her room at a private home, where the mystery of her past was as deep as among her close acquaintances, investigators found a little book of verse. A poem entitled "Shadows," the last line of which said: "But can't you see the shadows in me?"

Was followed by an underscored passage from Omar Khay-Yam, as follows: "And fear not lest existence, closing your 'Account and mine, should know the like no more."

Mannion, the girl's youngest executive in the film colony, came here two years ago from New York. He also carried the title of vice president of New York offices of Tec-Art studios.

KILLING IS BLAMED ON LOST AFFECTION

Hollywood, Calif., August 5.—(AP)—Finis was written today in a tragedy of love grown cold as police apparently accepted that explanation of the deaths from gunshot wounds of Hamilton W. Mannion, youthful motion picture executive, and Betty M. Gottlieb, a striking beauty of 25.

Slumped down together in the front seat of an automobile in a residence district, the two were found last night. Mannion was dead. The girl, unconscious and mortally wounded, clutched a revolver.

In the face of a general decline in receipts of leading cities of the United States, Atlanta continued its gains along with only a few southern cities, which, according to official figures released from Washington, showed a perceptible gain. Many showed an actual decline.

Tech's Seamen Given 48 Hours Gotham Leave

On Board the U. S. S. Bainbridge, August 5.—(Special.)—From the phosphorescent lights of the high seas to the bright light of New York's Broadway will be a step made Saturday and Sunday by the members of Georgia Tech unit, naval R. O. T. C., now engaging in summer training aboard this ship of Uncle Sam's fleet.

The Atlanta unit landed in New York tonight and 48 hours leaves of absence were granted in order that many of the Georgia scholars may see the country's metropolis for the first time.

All next week the Atlanta unit will lead lives of real seafarers when the U. S. S. Bainbridge will head for Newport, R. I., for refueling and laying in of supplies. After this is accomplished they will participate in fleet maneuvers.

The cruise being taken by the Tech unit has brought forth a new system in training, a system devised by Lieutenant R. J. for refueling and laying in of supplies. After this is accomplished they will participate in fleet maneuvers.

Any hours are being spent in gun drill in preparation for the target practice on August 10 in which the Tech unit will compete with units from Annapolis, S. C., New Orleans and Charleston.

Another feature of the cruise was a trip up Buzzards Bay, Mass., where boat and signal drills were held.

Boykin, of the twenty-ninth district, chairman of the senate public property committee, to whom was referred Senate Bill 125, creating the Stone Mountain park, announced that there would be a meeting of the public property committee of the senate to hear this matter in the senate chamber next Monday afternoon, at 3:00 o'clock, and further stated that all parties interested and who desired to be present and to be heard should be on hand at that time and place.

Dublin Man Seeking South Carolina Farmers Is To Return Home

Dublin, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—J. H. Proctor, representative for Laurens county, soliciting citizenship of the farmers of the Saluda power district of South Carolina, who received threatening letters requesting him to leave the state, will return to Dublin today after completing his work in that state.

Letters received by Proctor were immediately given to the sheriff of the county he was visiting and the authorities promised him their protection while he remained in their midst. These letters were sent to the federal authorities for investigation.

Proctor was visiting South Carolina to invite farmers of the district to be flooded in the Saluda developments to come to Laurens county, where citizens have offered choice lands at low prices in order to bring the South Carolinians here. A number of these farmers visited the county last week and many of them have announced their intention of buying Laurens county farms and bringing their friends and neighbors here to settle.

Expenses of the visiting parties were paid by citizens of Dublin, who have been working to interest the natives of South Carolina in this section of Georgia. Proctor was in South Carolina arranging for these trips and soliciting the farmers.

POCKET KNIVES MAKE GOOD WINDOW DISPLAY

Pocket knives ranging in size from the old-fashioned "frog-sticker" to the modern pen knife this week compose a novel window display at the King Hardware company's Peachtree street store, hundreds of Remington knives featuring the exhibit. Chief interest on the part of passersby centers in four knives imbedded in a cork and rotated by the breeze from an electric fan.

Throughout today a representative of the Remington Arms company will be at the King Hardware company and will sharpen knives free of charge for all persons calling upon him.

U. S. COURT UPHOLDS ADAIR INJUNCTION

Augusta, Ga., August 5.—(AP)—A decision making permanent the temporary injunction forbidding the receivers appointed in state court from taking over the assets of the Adair Realty company, of Atlanta, was handed down today by Judge William H. Barrett, of federal court here.

The motion of attorneys for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company to dissolve the temporary injunction granted by Judge William J. Tilson sometime ago was dissolved, and another motion, made by attorneys for the Adair Realty and Loan company, was granted in the decision.

Attorneys for the glass corporation immediately announced that they would appeal from the decision of Judge Barrett to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The receivers, who, under the injunction, are prevented from taking possession of the assets of the Adair Realty and Loan company, were appointed by Judge Howard, of the Fulton county supreme court.

Attorneys for both sides left for Atlanta immediately after Judge Barrett had rendered his decision. No witnesses were found necessary during the hearing.

ALABAMA HOUSE SOON TO CONSIDER ANTI-MASK LAW

Montgomery, Ala., August 5.—New impetus was given anti-masking legislation today with the introduction in the house of representatives of two measures designed to curb the activities of masked and hooded bands in the state of Alabama.

Representative Ware, author of a former measure introduced in the senate by Senator L. H. Ellis, of Shelby county, which was adversely introduced another measure making felony a felony and providing a penalty of from two to six years in the penitentiary. The bill provides that the question of sentences shall be left to the discretion of the trial judge.

The second bill introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Tompkins, of Houston county, was similar to the Ware proposal. The difference in the measure is that the sentence shall be left to the jury and the penalty fixed at from two to ten years.

"WE" FORMALLY HONOR MEMORY OF AIR PIONEER

Dayton, Ohio, August 5.—(AP)—Placing a wreath on the grave of Wilbur Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, New York-to-Paris flier, today paid tribute to that pioneer of aviation.

The noted flier arrived at McCook field at 12:30 p. m. and the trip to the cemetery was made as one of the first acts of his visit here.

His arrival in Dayton from Wheeling, W. Va., was one hour ahead of schedule.

Informing that only a few of the committee were present and that only a small part of the crowd expected had arrived, Colonel Lindbergh, not wishing to disappoint the throng, took off for Wright field, east of Dayton, where he landed and then shortly before 2 o'clock again took off for McCook field, landing this time amid the cheers of the assembled throng.

S. A. L. LECTURES TO BOOST SOUTH

Graphic illustration of the enterprising inducements offered by southern states will be given throughout the middle west, eastern and New England states by three teams of lecturers with motion picture outfits, starting on August 9, when promises made by S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line railway, in an address at St. Petersburg, Fla., last February, will materialize.

This announcement was made here Friday by officials of the large railway system, which will conduct the lecture tours as an aid to development of the south.

In his address, Mr. Warfield suggested that the state of Florida appropriate a sufficient sum of money to finance lecture tours throughout the country by the state as the most forceful way to bring Florida before the public and dispose of many misapprehensions concerning that state. He said the Seaboard Air Line railway would cooperate in this work. Now without awaiting action by the state, the railway has indicated its willingness to bring directly before the people in sight and lecture the advantages the southern country and Florida possess.

Motion and still pictures have been arranged to show the progress, development and prosperity that have followed the growth of the three counties, Alabama, North and South Carolina and Virginia throughout the territory traversed by the Seaboard Air Line.

The illustrated lecture tour will cover the middle west, New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland. The three teams will state facts and figures as to development of the southern territory. Opportunities afforded at state fairs will be utilized in this work. Halls will be used at other points. Invitations will be issued to public officials, members of agricultural societies and groups of associations, to make known the opportunities offered by the south.

MUSCLE SHOALS BILL ADVERSED IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., August 5.—(AP)—An adverse report on the bill empowering the governor to take the Muscle Shoals battle to court for settlement has been returned by the senate committee finance and taxation committee. Only two favorable votes were recorded in favor of the administration proposal.

The measure framed by Senator G. Walter Jones, chairman of the Muscle Shoals committee of the legislature, provided that the governor would be given authority to negotiate for settlement of the Muscle Shoals dispute. In the event a settlement could not be reached an appropriation of $25,000 was provided.

The report of the senate committee came after an open hearing at which scores of citizens of the Tennessee valley and the shoals district appeared and protested any action on the part of the legislature to effect administration settlement of the project at Muscle Shoals. The shoals citizens were almost unanimous in favoring the leasing of Muscle Shoals to a private corporation.

Spokesmen for the citizens committee were Representatives Ashcraft, of Florence, and Reeder, of Lauderdale. Whether the action of the senate committee has ended the fight in the legislature was being discussed today. Opinion of a number of legislators was that the legislature would now adopt a "hands off" policy.

Another Giant War Plane Built By U.S. Secretly

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, August 5.—The third giant bomber to be secretly constructed recently by the United States army, larger and heavier than the two previous, and employing a unique tubular steel wing construction which has been under construction for five years, will be tested by the Keystone Aircraft corporation, Bristol, Pa., next Wednesday, the corporation announced today.

The Keystone plane will be known as a "super-cyclops" and will carry four tons of military load, including a one-ton bomb, in addition to six, possibly ten, machine guns. It will be driven by two 550-horsepower Packard motors and will weigh eight tons, six machine guns.

It has been secretly under development for the past two and a half years. Richard Blythe, representative of the Keystone company, revealed the first two giant planes, yet to be tested recently after secret construction were the Fokker bomber and the Curtiss Condor, each equipped with six machine guns.

The super-cyclops will be larger in dimensions than the Fokker and heavier than the Condor. It is said to be the mightiest in the world, like the Condor, it is a bi-plane, while the Fokker is a monoplane.

The all-metal steel wing is the development of Professor C. Talbot Porter, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Vare and Wilson Unite in Effort To Save Ballots

Washington, August 5.—(AP)—Representatives of Senator-elect William S. Vare, republican, and his democratic opponent, William B. Wilson, joined forces today in an effort to save from destruction the ballots cast outside of Philadelphia, Allegheny and Delaware counties in the Pennsylvania senatorial election last November. They agreed that Davis S. Barry, senate sergeant-at-arms, should write to the judges of the counties requesting them to impound the ballots so they will not be destroyed when election officials clean out ballot boxes in preparation for the state primary to be held on September 20.

Counsel for both Vare and Wilson will endorse Barry's letter and in addition they will draw up for each county a judge a formal order for impounding the ballots, thus saving the judges that much labor. Besides this, Barry will write to the commissioners of each county urging their cooperation in the effort to preserve all of the ballots cast in the state for use by the senate in passing finally upon the formal petition of contest.

George F. Holmes, president of the State Association of Commissioners, also will address a letter to the commissioners.

This method of seeking the ballots for senate use was decided upon after it had become clear that senate funds for obtaining the ballots immediately could not be made available, as the senate privileges and elections committee was specifically limited in dealing with this case to the life of the sixty-ninth congress, which expired last March.

The senate campaign funds committee also has been seeking to obtain the ballots through the federal courts, but the court for the Philadelphia district held that the question of whether this committee legally exists is one for the senate and not the courts to decide. An appeal from that decision has been allowed.

WAR DEPARTMENT TO PASS ON CROSS FOR CHAMBERLIN

Rapid City, S. D., August 5.—(AP)—The question of whether a distinguished flying cross may be conferred upon Clarence Chamberlin, New York-Germany flyer, will be put up to the war department by President Coolidge for investigation and recommendation.

THREE CHILD AID BILLS ARE PASSED

With the passage Friday of the three remaining child welfare bills in the senate, the house now becomes the center of action in regard to the measures. Four of them are shortly to be considered by the lower house, while one is being prepared for presentation to the governor.

The senate passed yesterday the illegitimacy bill, the non-support and desertion bill and the legal adoption bill. The last named measure was passed unanimously by the house several days ago and was accorded similar honor by the senate.

The illegitimacy bill, introduced by Senator Walter C. Hendrix, of Atlanta, passed overwhelmingly, only 7 votes being recorded against it. Senator Hendrix presented it to the upper body for consideration Friday and in his address strongly urged its passage.

"This measure provides," he said, "for the enforced support of children born out of wedlock. The only law we have today relating to illegitimate children is the bastardy law, and it has no bearing on the welfare of these unfortunate. We are seeking in this measure to make useful citizens of these children by giving them a chance in life."

The legal adoption bill, by Senator John L. Kelley, was passed by the house, in substitution for a senate bill identical with the one passed by the house. The author made a short talk explaining the provisions of the bill. He said Georgia at the present time has virtually no adoption law. This bill, he pointed out, requires adoption to be made in superior courts and after a six months trial period has elapsed. It was passed without a dissenting vote.

The non-support and desertion bill by Senator Erle Cocke as brought out by the author, makes these offenses continuing ones. Under the present Georgia law, after one prosecution, a parent is exempt from further handling if he chooses to desert his children. The bill passed by the senate, Senator Cocke declared, would make each day in desertion a separate offense.

Proponents of the child welfare legislation, consisting of five bills, juvenile court, illegitimacy, non-support and desertion, legal adoption and mothers' aid, are elated over the success thus far with the program. They point out that all five of the bills have been to a vote in one house or the other. More than 200 votes have been cast on them, and only ten negative ballots have been recorded.

Singer Is Named In Suit of Wife Against Husband

Chicago, August 5.—(United News)—Irene Parloska, well-known singer of the Chicago Civic Opera company, has been named as the mysterious "Jane Doe" who was named as co-respondent in a maintenance suit.

The revelation came today in Judge George F. Knish's court during hearing of a motion for temporary alimony filed by counsel for Mrs. Eda Mae Parloska.

The bill alleged that Dr. Maurice E. Mesriow had indulged in a clandestine love affair with one "Jane Doe" and that he had openly acknowledged he had become madly in love with the said "Jane Doe." Furthermore, the bill said, they had held numerous love parties in Chicago from the middle of June, 1926, to the filing of the bill for separate maintenance.

When Attorney Phil H. Davis, for Dr. Mesriow, insisted that the identity of "Jane Doe" be revealed, the court ruled in his favor and Attorney William B. Berger announced she was Miss Parloska.

Mrs. Mesriow won her plea for temporary alimony, being awarded $40 a week and $175 solicitor's fees.

FIRST OF FIVE NEW SCHOOLS DEDICATED

Ceremonies marked the dedication Friday afternoon of the Hemphill school, at Adamsville, on the Gordon road, the first of the five new county school buildings ready for service during the ensuing school term which gets under way September 12.

The new structure was built at an estimated expenditure of $13,000 and will provide ample space for the students and the necessary equipment is to be placed in the school building.

The cornerstone laying exercises were presided over by Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary, who was assisted by W. H. Abbott, Fulton county tax receiver. Both county officials are past masters of the Masonic lodge, the two ceremonies were in charge of the members of Adamsville lodge of Masons.

The new schools, a majority of which are practically completely modern in lighting and heating and in every other respect, called for an expenditure of more than $300,000. The following are the names of the new buildings: Evan P. Howell school, Howell Mill road, August 12; E. Rivers school, addition to the auditorium, at Peachtree Heights, August 19; Center Hill school, August 26, and the Marion Smith school, September 2.

ARMY DELEGATES PREPARE TO LEAVE

Geneva, August 5.—(United News.)—Thankfully leaving the scattered remains of the disarmament machine to be reassembled by some future successors, naval disarmament delegates Friday exchange hasty farewells and prepared to depart.

Americans are dispersing immediately to their various posts—the diplomatic delegates to their continental stations, the naval ones to the United States.

Most of the British planned to leave for London Friday night, and the Japanese are ready to go Saturday to their continental cities or to Tokyo. The verbal battle front of Geneva that soldiers showed to get home from the world war.

Consequently there is little discussion of the failure to attain agreement on the important question of cruiser limitation or of the possible effects of failure.

There is a general air of reconciliation to the inevitable, and the delegates are leaving it to their governments, as their agreed statement of Thursday said, to carry on the work of preventing competitive warship building.

Already there is indication that this work will be carried on. Reports from London even hint of a new conference to be called.

In any event there is no sign of bad feeling.

Drouhin - Levine Row Unsettled; Plane Is Ready

Paris, August 5.—(AP)—The transatlantic monoplane Columbia, which flew from New York to Germany, is all ready for a return to New York by the air route's experts declared today, but her crew, Maurice Drouhin, French aviator, and Charles A. Levine, owner of the plane, still were apparently at odds.

The way in which the plane made a test flight today in which it lifted more than two thirds of its eventual load with an ease and speed that drew admiration from aviators at Le Bourget convinced the various experts who have been preparing the ship for the flight that it was ready for the final take-off.

Drouhin said he was eager to hop off at the earliest possible moment. Levine said that he still wanted to return home in the Columbia and that Drouhin would pilot the ship, but when the time came this afternoon for signature of the final contract between the two men, Levine refused to sign the contract, and the flight was postponed.

Failure of Levine to appear at the meeting place to sign the new contract was generally interpreted as indicating that he has fallen back on the position which he took early in the controversy when he said he stood on the original agreement. This consisted of a simple letter signed by Drouhin alone accepting the terms Levine offered at their midnight conference at Levine's hotel where it was agreed that Drouhin would pilot the ship for the return flight.

Aviation circles are nonplussed by the persistent refusal of Levine to sign the contract, by the continuance of preparations of the flight notwithstanding Levine's declaration.

During the afternoon that he might decide late tonight just when the Columbia would take off. He was rather uncommunicative concerning the situation and at various times declared only that everything was all right and that there was nothing new or that Drouhin was still pilot of the plane.

He had warrants for Dixon and two other boys and is supposed to have arrested them from W. H. Rogers, who saw Dixon, witnesses say, he told him that he had a warrant for his arrest, charging him with stealing the car. Booth was shot by Rogers.

WEISIGER DISCUSSES TRAINING IN INDUSTRY

Blue Ridge, N. C., August 5.—(AP)—What is considered the most important gathering of industrial thinkers held in the south this year, opened here today when the eighth annual session of the southern conference on human relations in industry got under way.

In the three days 500 representatives of southern industry who were in the assembly were presidents and heads of railroads, directors of telephone companies, managers of large mills and factories, ministers, teachers, Y. M. C. A. secretaries, employees, foremen and editors of newspapers and magazines.

An address tonight on "Training in Industry," by Kendall Weisiger, of Atlanta, director of employment and training of the Southern Bell Telephone company, and the speech of E. J. Jouett, of Louisville, vice president and general counsel of the Louisville and Nashville railway, were high points on the first evening's program.

Mr. Jouett spoke on "The Evolution of Human Relations in Railway Transportation." To fill the shortage of skilled workmen in America brought about by stricter immigration laws and accomplished specialized training of the kind which became passe when modern machinery replaced handwork and apprenticeship, it remains for business or industry to build on the foundations laid by the school system the particular training that will fit the former student for a career, Mr. Weisiger told the conference.

Tracing the history of industry from the time of Watt, through the "industrial revolution" to the present day, Mr. Weisiger outlined the need for continued specialized education, advocating that industries themselves give this training to their employees.

Mr. Jouett declared that following the passage of the transportation act of 1920 "the public and railroad came to a better understanding than ever before, realizing, apparently for the first time, that like Longfellow's metaphorical bow and arrow, typical of man and woman, they were 'useless each without the other.'"

He said that "in this last period of mutual understanding, confidence and fair dealing, there is a common recognition, as never before, of the clear-cut correlative rights of these three parties so deeply and mutually interested in the great industry of railway transportation—the carrier to a fair return upon the value of their transportation property, yet within certain definite limitations; the employees to a reasonable compensation for their services and to just working conditions; and the public, to adequate transportation facilities and services at a reasonable cost."

Traffic Accident Figures Show Great Common Peril

What are your chances of being killed or maimed in a traffic accident? The police traffic report compiled for July shows that during that month two persons were killed and 93 injured in Atlanta alone. At the same rate, nearly 1,200 persons would be killed or hurt in a year in this one city.

You are in grave danger—these figures prove it. If your own financial independence is unprotected, if the security of your family is not safeguarded fully, you are neglecting your solemn duty.

Insure. Insure now! Cheapest and most efficient insurance against traffic accidents is afforded you under the terms of The Constitution's offer to you of the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Insurance company, of Chicago, an old and reliable concern which has paid more than $50,000 in claims of Constitution policyholders.

The policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only $1.25 per year—a fraction of a penny a day.

BALTIMORE OFFICER KILLED BY NEGRO; ONE SUSPECT HELD

Baltimore, Md., August 5.—(AP)—After a chase through the negro district in which several thousand people, including 50 police men, participated, Grant Kennard, 36, negro, was tonight held in connection with the murder of Patrolman William F. Doehler. Police believe Kennard to have been an accomplice of David Berry, the negro charged with the actual slaying.

Berry escaped from his home, his wife said, as a squad of police entered Kennard, who the woman said had been with her husband, was captured in the back yard after two shots had been fired. Berry still was at large late tonight.

Patrolman Doehler was shot and mortally wounded by a negro he had arrested in an attempt to pawn a watch, allegedly stolen. The policeman had led the negro to a police signal box and was in the act of calling for the patrol when his captive shot him down. Doehler fired one shot after the fleeing man before collapsing. He died before reaching a hospital.

What are your chances of being killed or maimed in a traffic accident?

COURTNEY IS WAITING FOR GOOD WEATHER

Southampton, August 5.—(AP)—Captain Frank T. Courtney, who is planning to make a trans-Atlantic flight in his Dornier flying boat "Whale," today was rather worried by conflicting reports concerning the weather. He has been waiting for some time for favorable conditions to hop off.

The British air ministry has reported that the weather is unfavorable for the flight while American weather authorities have reported that it was entirely favorable.

ranked second as a money crop in south Georgia and the industry is but three years old. While tobacco has been grown experimentally for nine years, only for the past three has its culture been extensive.

Pre-season estimates of this year's crop placed the total production at 50,000,000 pounds, which is estimated to bring an average of approximately $20 per hundred pounds, or $10,000,000 gross to the farmers in the belt.

This year's acreage was 55,000 acres, the greatest area yet devoted to tobacco culture in the state.

SALES TAKE SPURT ON FRIDAY

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(AP)—The first week of the Georgia tobacco season closed today with sales for the day next to those made on the opening day, which was a record-breaker in the history of the leaf in this state.

Blackhear again led the state with sales totaling 317,265 pounds, and Vidalia followed in second place with 300,000 pounds.

The leaf offerings this week have been of the poorest quality of the leaf and with the opening of the market on Monday market prices and offerings on all the markets will be increased for then the better qualities of the leaf will be brought to the markets.

The highest average price for sales today was paid on the Nashville market with 22.80 cents offered. Blackhear took second place for the next highest price offered with 22.10 cents for each pound of the golden leaf.

A tabulation of sales on the individual market follows:

of the conference leaves each nation where it was before the conference began, but should not disrupt the friendly and cordial understanding among them, in the opinion of the president.

Just because the nations were unable to agree on a naval building program, is not sufficient reason to rouse bad feeling among them.

At the press conference, Coolidge appeared in a more spirited mood than usual and acted as though the retirement announcement had lifted a burden from his shoulders.

COOLIDGE NOT PLANNING NEW NAVAL CONFERENCE

Rapid City, S. D., August 5.—(AP)—President Coolidge knows of no fourteen nations, Mr. Coolidge's attention turned to foreign affairs today, he let it be known that this country's position regarding China was the same as outlined by him in his New York speech last April. American marines are there, it was pointed out, to protect American lives and property, and while the number of Americans in China is diminishing right along, the presence of foreign forces has, Mr. Coolidge believes, prevented the taking and looting of Shanghai. This, he believes to be a service to the Chinese people as well as the foreigners living there.

LEGION ATTENDANCE SETS SUMMER MARK

The largest attendance of the summer greeted the American Legion's "all-fun" program, arranged by Vice Commander Charles DuFresne at the Henry Grady hotel Friday. Entertainers included the Fun-Makers club, of Washington, composed of Misses Ethel and Eloy Edwards, Frances, Sara and Laurie Cone and Kathryn Stockton; Miss Maxine Judd, comedienne, and Fay Dunlap, accompanist, and Ed Anchors, basso, and Miss Marion Howe, accompanist.

Appointment of C. M. Boyer as luncheon program chairman for the remainder of the summer was announced by Commander Frank Kemp-ton, who presided at the luncheon.

You wouldn't think of driving your automobile unless you were sure you had plenty of oil. Then, how about your watch? How long has it been since it was "looked over?"

The delicate mechanism of your watch requires a little attention from time to time... oiling and cleaning at intervals and in case of accident certain repair work is essential.

You will find that our watch repair work is satisfactory and carries with it our guarantee. Men of long experience skilled in their profession are here to serve you. No cost for examination of your watch and a very reasonable charge for repair work. Take care of your watch and you will find it will always be dependable.

Girls May Smoke If Men Do, Rules Marine General

Brigadier General Rufus H. Lane, whose smoking for women order has set Washington talking.

Washington, August 7.—Girls as well as men, employed at headquarters of the marine corps here, may smoke, Brigadier General Rufus H. Lane, adjutant and inspector of the corps, ruled today.

Rules that apply to men also apply to women, and there shall be no discrimination against them, he said.

datation for the rumor that he will call another conference on the limitation of naval armaments.

The question, of course, is one which must be left open, he believes, since no one can forecast at this time what suddenly might develop to make another conference advisable but regarding his present intentions, they include no desire to reopen the Geneva discussions.

Mr. Coolidge considers that it may be said positively no meeting will be called by him in 1929. It was recalled that the president leaves office March 4, of that year, and he believes there could not possibly be time in three months to call a meeting, reach an agreement and frame a treaty upon which the Senate could act.

No Effect on Peace.

The opinion is held by Mr. Coolidge that in spite of the failure of the Geneva conference the utmost friendly feeling and cordial understanding continues to exist between the United States, Great Britain and Japan and he does not expect the break-up to have any serious effect upon the peace of the world. The three nations went into the conference with a friendly mind, he believes, and although their differences of opinion were too great to permit an agreement, he sees no reason why serious consequences need be expected.

The first demonstration of this country's good will for Great Britain will take place Sunday when Secretary Kellogg speaks at the dedication of the international peace bridge between Buffalo and Canada. His message will reflect the sentiments of the Washington government and accordingly President Coolidge will send no special communication.

Affect Undecided.

In Mr. Coolidge's opinion it is too early to say what effect the Geneva break-up will have on the future naval policies of the three countries. He considers this country's viewpoints of the Geneva discussion were set forth fully and carefully by Ambassador Gibson and by an auxiliary statement by Secretary Kellogg and on these the president intends to rest this country's position.

While Mr. Coolidge's attention turned to foreign affairs today, he let it be known that this country's position regarding China was the same as outlined by him in his New York speech last April. American marines are there, it was pointed out, to protect American lives and property, and while the number of Americans in China is diminishing right along, the presence of foreign forces has, Mr. Coolidge believes, prevented the taking and looting of Shanghai. RED FERN SPEEDS FOR BRUNSWICK nationally known flier and head of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation of Detroit.

Edward C. M. Redfern and County Commissioner M. B. McKinnon were among the first to greet the fliers as Redfern brought the "Port of Brunswick" to rest.

They were closely followed by Major W. L. Harwell Brunswick national guard units and Paul Varner chairman of the Brunswick-Brunswick Flight committee, all of whom had been delegated to extend Brunswick's greetings to the fliers and bid them an official and hearty welcome to the city.

In deference to the young aviator, Redfern was shoved forward by Eddie Stinson to first accept the city's acclaim. The Detroit aviator, whose factory had built Redfern's monoplane, followed the pilot from the machine, but before either of them could get away, the scene was wholly encompassed by the over-zealous crowd, which had swept the guardsmen aside, and was intent upon paying personal homage to its own "Good Will Ambassador."

As a smaller circle of guards, doubled in rank, were thrown around the plane to prevent possible damage, Redfern and Stinson under another escort of guards, were elbowed through the well-meaning but semi-hilarious throng of admirers, to a pre-selected refuge, where they were supplied with refreshments prior to their reappearance at the head of a motorcade programmed to traverse the principal sections of Brunswick and which terminated at Glynn beach, where they were greeted informally by friends.

To Be Feted Today.

Tomorrow as the first of a series of local functions at which the fliers will be feted and honored by Brunswick various clubs and by citizens individually, both Redfern and Stinson are to be the guests of honor at a luncheon which will be given by the Young Men's club of the city and at which a special program of entertainment has been arranged for the fliers, more definite plans relative to Redfern's plans here as he awaits the opportune time to hop off to South Atlantic, it was said would be announced later.

REPORTED SEEN OVER ATLANTA.

An airplane was reported to have passed over Atlanta headed south around 5 o'clock, central standard time, a man living in the fourth ward here declaring that it "looked like a new plane."

There was no way of identifying it as Redfern, however, the man who telephoned the Associated Press office said.

A telephone call to The Associated Press from J. A. Billbeck, of Jasper, Ga., reported that a plane, resembling "a transatlantic ship in size," was seen over there at 6 o'clock (central standard time) headed south. It was flying about 1,000 feet up and was proceeding at a medium rate of speed, Mr. Billbeck said.

PLANE SEEN NEAR MACON.

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(AP)—An airplane reported to have passed over Macon, Ga., a small railroad station 30 miles south of here, at 5:30 eastern standard time today, was believed by those sighting it to have possibly been the plane in which Paul Redfern, aviator, is flying from Detroit to Brunswick, Georgia.

CIRCLES LOW OVER TOLEDO.

Toledo, Ohio, August 5.—(AP)—Circling low over the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hillbrand, Paul R. Redfern, Toledo aviator, was seen by a large number of people on his trip from Detroit to Brunswick, Ga.

LEFT DETROIT
AT 9:40 A. M.

Detroit, August 5.—(AP)—Paul R. Redfern hopped off from the Ford airport at 9:40 a. m. for Brunswick, Ga. in his Stinson-Detroit monoplane, "The Port of Brunswick," which he will attempt to fly to Rio de Janeiro from the southern city, the longest non-stop flight on record.

Eddie Stinson, designer of the plane, accompanied Redfern on the flight to Brunswick, the 850-mile non-stop journey being in the nature of a final test.

They will fly by way of Toledo, Dayton and Atlanta to Brunswick. Redfern was expected to complete the journey to Brunswick in 10 hours and announced he will await favorable weather conditions there to start for South America.

A large delegation of fliers and others was at the airport to wish the intrepid young aviator luck on his hazardous undertaking.

Perfect Take-Off.

The flier made a perfect take-off and soon disappeared southward. The plane, the construction of which Redfern has been supervising here for the past several weeks, was pronounced in perfect condition after a rigid test Thursday. The plane is a sister ship to that with which Stinson won the national air tour and the Edsel Ford trophy last month.

It is equipped with a single Wright whirlwind motor of 200-h. p. capable of carrying a 4,000 pound load and maintaining a high speed of 124.5 miles an hour, under this load. In initial tests the ship carried 550 gallons of fuel.

Redfern planned to fly by way of Toledo, Dayton and Atlanta, to Brunswick. Stinson will remain in Brunswick several days, assisting in tests and in adjusting navigational instruments. An earth inductor compass was added to the equipment yesterday.

Although Redfern will fly alone on the South American trip, his plane is capable of carrying six passengers besides a pilot.

To negotiate the flight, Redfern plans to take-off from Brunswick with 550 gallons or 3,575 pounds of gasoline besides other supplies which will total in weight more than two tons. On a basis of 11 gallons consumed each hour by a similar engine in other long-distance flights, Redfern will be required to maintain a speed about 88 miles an hour to finish within his 55-hour fuel supply. Inasmuch as a plane of the same type demonstrated a speed of 124 miles an hour in winning the national air tour, Redfern anticipates no difficulty.

Cabin Included.

The cabin of the plane has been completely inclosed and the glass panels normally used have been eliminated to save weight. He will fly from the nose of the plane where the cabin inclosure has been given over entirely to the huge main tank which is fitted to carry 425 gallons and with yards of tubing and valves to control the fuel flow the remainder of the supply is to be carried in the wings. As the wing supply diminishes, it will be replaced by an engine pump forcing the fuel up from the cabin tank. This will supply 12 gallons a minute.

The plane's christening yesterday was witnessed by a large group of Detroiters, including Mayor John W. Smith, Ray Cooper, aviation secretary of the Detroit board of directors; Alex Down and Carl R. Fritzsche, general manager of the Aircraft Development corporation.

"Breath Tester" Is Latest APPARATUS GAUGES STATE OF DRUNKENNESS Nemesis for Auto Speeders

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Indianapolis, Ind., August 5.—Apparatus for testing heart, lungs and blood have long been in use, but a "breath tester" is the latest species of the public.

Dr. Rella H. Harger, professor of analytical chemistry at the Indiana university school of medicine, has been working for several years in conjunction with leading doctors and scientists of Europe and the United States in an effort to perfect a method of determining the amount of alcohol actually present in the blood of a human being through samples of the breath.

The device is soon to be available generally, although, according to Dr. Harger, it already has been in use to a limited extent in several places. It has been simplified through new discoveries lately to such an extent that Dr. Harger asserts that it will now be practicable for police officers to take breath samples when trying to ascertain whether or not speeders, victims of an accident, or those who caused the accident were actually intoxicated.

"The analysis does not indicate the quantity of liquor drunk," said Dr. Harger. COUNTRESS S A L M TO MARRY RAMOS; DATE IS NOT SET

New York, August 5.—(AP)—Colonel H. H. Rogers today formally announced the engagement of his daughter, Millicent, the former wife of Count Ludwig Salm-Hoogstraeten, to Arthur Ramon, wealthy young Argentine.

The date for the wedding has not been set, but it probably will take place in the autumn, it was said at the Rogers home at Southampton.

Rumors of a romance between the former Countess Salm and Ramon, which first were circulated soon after Millicent Rogers Salm obtained a divorce in Paris, have persisted despite repeated denials.

First definite announcement of her plans to marry again was made when the former Countess Salm sailed from Paris for the United States a month ago, at which time Ramon said he planned to marry her "as soon as she returned from the United States." After a short stay in this country she returned to Paris.

RAJAH KNIGHTED

Sarawak, East Indies, Aug. 7.—(AP) King George, of England, has conferred honors of knighthood upon Sir Vyner Brooke, the only white rajah.

Sir Vyner is the Rajah of Sarawak and rules over a country of 140,000 square miles.

He is the third white rajah to rule Sarawak. In 1839 Rajah Muda Hassim, a native ruler, assisted by Malay officials, controlled the territory in which Vyner Brooke's father, Sir James Brooke, had established his rebellion and Muda Hassan abdicated in his favor.

On his death in 1868 the title passed to his nephew, Sir Charles Johnson Brooke. Sir Charles was the father of Sir Vyner.

Henry Breckinridge, former assistant secretary of war, and Mrs. Ida De Acosta Root, of New York, were married here today.

Here's Proof of the PROGRESS In Giving Better Street Car Service

RECENTLY we have been telling you of Atlanta's unique "Point Supervision" system, and we have told you several times that this system has helped to keep your service dependable, to keep the cars on time, to reduce the time you have to stand on the corner waiting for a street car.

Above is proof of the progress that has been made—two "Schedule Failure" sheets of 1927 and one of 1923. Note that the number of schedule failures on two days in 1927, shown above, required less space in the tabulation than those on one day in 1923.

A "schedule failure," in the terminology of street railway operation, is when a car gets behind time and has to turn back before it reaches the end of its route. Inevitably a few such failures occur, but the fewer the better, of course, because each one of them means that some passenger may be inconvenienced. Fewer failures of this kind are occurring today than ever before in the history of the service.

Romance of Russia Ends World Radicals

WIFE IN JAIL AND HUSBAND WOUNDED

Seeking To Save Sacco, Vanzetti

Hollywood, Calif., August 5.—(AP)—A romance of Russia intrigue ended today with Mrs. Irene Presnakoff, 26, known on the screen as Irene Preston, in jail and her husband, Logee Presnakoff, 35, also of the films, nursing a superficial bullet wound in his shoulder, the result of a shot fired by his wife.

"She telephoned me to come to see her and then she shot me," was Presnakoff's story to the police.

"He called me a woman of the streets, then I shot him," was her version of the affair.

The actress said she was the daughter of the court surgeon to the czar.

Presnakoff was a lieutenant in the Russian army at the opening of the war. The overthrow of the czar also upset their marriage plans.

A marriage in Shanghai followed months of terror in escaping from Russia—the actress showed scars of wounds received in Leningrad street fighting.

Work in motion pictures was blamed by her for the estrangement with her husband. Her last employment was a minor part in "The King of Kings."

"She will kill me at the first opportunity," Presnakoff told the police in demanding that his wife be jailed.

Struck by a piece of flying metal, and taken to the Bellevue hospital in a critical condition.

The story of the explosion in the B-M-T station was told by Oscar Teifer, 28.

Explosion torsees MAN TO GROUND.

"I was waiting for a south-bound train," he said, "and was walking up and down the platform. My wife had gone to the rest room, but another woman was standing near us."

"I did not see any men run from the other side of the station where the bomb went off, but before I knew what had happened, there was a flash and I was flat on my face. It seemed like bricks and mortar would never cease falling down on me. I remember falling some of the dust and trying to go up to find my wife, then I lost consciousness."

"When I woke up, the station was black. Not a light. I groped to the rest room and found my wife lying on her side, unconscious. I dragged her out and then we stumbled into police and firemen with flashlights."

"The woman was Margaret Fallon, 31. She was taken to a hospital for treatment for serious lacerations and bruises."

The bomb which wrecked the B-M-T station was placed in the rest room of the north-bound side directly under the bank building which was not wrecked.

The exact location of the bomb which wrecked the B-M-T station could not be determined, excepting that it exploded on the up-town platform.

Mrs. Ahles, because of Weigand's drinking and refusal to work.

Tonight police arrested Mrs. Weigand's husband, but he denied that he had seen his estranged wife for several months. He is a chauffeur. Police took him to headquarters for further questioning.

May Have Met Husband.

Mrs. Ahles told police Mrs. Weigand might have met her husband somewhere, after taking Dorothy to the hospital, to try to get money from him for the child's operation.

Mrs. Ahles did not know the address of the husband, she described him as a thin blonde, about five feet ten inches tall. This description tallies somewhat with that of the man who was seen running up the subway steps, according to police.

The negro porter in charge of the woman's room told detectives that shortly before noon he had noticed a man and a woman in the room.

He said he had seen a gun or blood in the room, which he had seen it out earlier in the morning.

Triangle Routed.

Mrs. Ahles, after identifying the body of the husband, told police she did not believe Mr. Weigand had another lover other than her husband. She discredited the theory of a clandestine romance which might have caused the tragedy.

Detectives pointed out that this, the first murder of its kind in Manhattan's criminal history, showed extremely intelligent planning on the part of the slayer, or great good luck on his part in committing the crime, in such a unique, but ideal spot for a murder.

During the hour, the city hall district is one of the busiest sections in the world. The city hall subway station during the midday is jammed with persons trying to go to and from trains. The confusion of crowds, noises and the clatter and roar of trains makes conversation almost impossible. Moreover at this time of the day, the woman's room is used infrequently. The detectives said a man might have committed three or four crimes without detection under the station conditions, and have lost himself in the crowd, with little fear of detection.

Negro Injured.

Clinton Williamson, young negro, was injured at Grady hospital Friday afternoon from a car accident.

Lacerations received when struck by a car driven by W. D. Meyer, 107 Fifth street, N. W., at Davis and Mitchell streets.

After Mr. Meyer took the negro to the hospital, he reported to the police station. No case was made.

New York, August 5.—(United News)—Radicals throughout the world, their sympathies with Sacco and Vanzetti stimulated by Governor Fuller's decision, continued Friday night varying means of showing resentment.

A general strike at Rosario, Argentina, declared Thursday, continued. Taxicab drivers, newspaper sellers, and some printers alone were working.

A strike service of omnibuses and street cars was started with policemen guarding each car. The police were permitting indoor meetings of strikers, but are forbidding street demonstrations.

Buenos Aires municipal and railway workers are considering either a strike or a demonstration Sunday in favor of the doomed men.

Socialists at Bogota, Colombia, were to meet to decide what action to take against the federal police guard, who is being maintained at the American legation and consulate.

The Stockholm Sacco-Vanzetti committee called for the international boycott of American products. An enormous demonstration in front of the American legation is scheduled for August 11, the day set for execution of Sacco and Vanzetti.

The Berlin Labor Union council, in a letter to the American embassy urging relief of the condemned men, said: "We cannot believe the American people endorse this barbaric act of revenge. On behalf of 400,000 organized workers we protest against execution and appeal to the United States government to prevent this murder."

In Lisbon there is a strong guard before the American legation and consulate. The legation is receiving many threatening letters.

GOVERNOR RECEIVES MANY COMMUNICATIONS.

Boston, August 5.—(United News).—About 300 communications including telegrams, cablegrams and letters have been received at Governor Fuller's office since announcement of his decision that Sacco and Vanzetti must die.

The great bulk of the communications commend the governor for his decision. Those in protest are extremely bitter. No threats of bodily injury have been received, however.

Governor Fuller was secluded in his summer home at Rye Beach, N. H., all of today and will not return to the statehouse until Monday. His home in Rye Beach is guarded by state police.

Guards also patrol the streets in the vicinity of the prison and special watch has been established at the statehouse.

The state supreme court, in a decision today, refused to grant a writ of habeas corpus to Sacco and Vanzetti.

FEDERAL JUSTICES ARE SENT THREATS.

Washington, August 5.—(United News).—A threat against justices of the United States supreme court was received today at court offices here, apparently from a Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizer.

The letter, which was signed "E. J. K." and was mailed yesterday at Pittsburgh, Pa., threatened the lives of the justices.

Another postcard, mailed at the same time and place and apparently from the same source, was directed to the state commissioner of game and fish. The park would be known as the Stone Mountain park.

Could Acquire Title.

This commission would have authority to acquire title to Stone Mountain by gift or purchase.

It would have authority to make whatever arrangement it thought proper with the Stone Mountain Memorial association for raising funds to be used in carving the Stone Mountain memorial.

The sales tax item objected to and vigorously opposed on the floor by Representative C. C. Whitfield, of Georgia, and others was in an amendment offered by the authors of the bill which placed the general sales tax on the receipts of newspapers and exempted all public utilities by a clause excluding such "firms or corporations enumerated in section 1019 of the code."

The amendment, which would apply to railroads and other public service corporations paying an ad valorem tax on franchises, Mr. Miller, co-author of the amendment, defended it and resented the inference that it was intended to conceal any purpose by its language. He said that these corporations already paid huge taxes under the existing law and that it was intended to eliminate from those subject to this taxation.

Amendment Adopted.

Prior to the vote several amendments were adopted to the measure as it was originally drawn. Among other things, the clause causing a storm of protest, was one placing raw cotton in the same category as tobacco and gasoline, which commodities were not subject to this particular tax.

The measure, said to accept a source that approximately $3,500,000 in new revenue, provided a $5 tax on all goods or commodities purchased for resale at retail up to $100, 20 cents on $100 and 10 cents on $200 and 30 cents per $100 on all thereafter.

Several members including Stark, of Whitfield, and Erwin, of Clarke, in voting against the amendment, said they were not in favor of the measure, saying that they believed the measure to have been introduced in absolute good faith.

SENATE PASSES MANY MEASURES.

Three child welfare bills touching on adoption, child support and parental obligation to illegitimate offspring were among 30 general bills reaching a favorable vote Friday morning before the senate.

The morning session, which adjourned at 1:30 o'clock until 11 o'clock Monday morning, also saw the defeat of a resolution to suspend the probe of the state banking department with regard to attorney's fees paid in the liquidation of defunct banks.

Senator John L. Bell, of Kentucky, the author of the resolution, spoke heatedly for its adoption. He challenged a number of fees appearing on the department's financial statement and exhibited false checks in support of his contentions. He announced a motion to reconsider to be put later.

One of the bills given passage Friday morning, drawn by Senator Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, prohibits the placement of advertising signs on public highways where they may obstruct vision at danger points.

The bill would also purge the highways of pictures or wording of an obscene, vulgar or indecent nature and place a "wooden nickel" or other coin of a minor value, in a slot machine with the expectation to receive therefrom a valuable commodity.

With a minor amendment, the Ro-previously many members are not participating, however, for building work continues.

Taxicab chauffeurs in Buenos Aires, already on strike, announce that they will stay out in sympathy with the two condemned men.

The workers' federation, comprising mainly anarchistic elements, announces a strike for Tuesday to continue indefinitely. They claim 18,000 members.

Railway and stevedores, the most important union in the country with 80,000 members, will decide Saturday whether to strike.

Bakers, milkmen and other food-stuff workers are awaiting final decision on their participation. Postal and telegraph men have decided not to strike.

Three of the seven arguments to be made before the jury were completed tonight and the remaining ones will begin at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow.

Attorney Vailmont, in his opening argument this afternoon, pleaded for the death penalty and Rene H. Eisinger, in a resolution in favor of retaining the jury, said there is only the faintest of hope of further prolonging their lives.

In their cells in the death house, the prisoners upon whom the attention of the world is focused, have given up hope and are steeling themselves against the walk to the electric chair on Thursday morning.

Nicola Sacco, strong and composed despite his 20 days without food, told his wife when she visited him.

Benjamin Vanzetti, the elder and more philosophical of the prisoners, regretted only that the last means of expression of his anarchistic views had been taken from him.

Ban On Letters.

Warden William Hendry, disturbed over publication of vitriolic letters written by Sacco and Vanzetti during the past few days, forbade them the privilege of communicating in this manner with the outside world.

"Vengeance us," Vanzetti had written to his comrades outside, but the expression was considered taboo.

The legal moves on Saturday, as outlined by Arthur D. Hill, new chief counsel for the defense, are to be as follows:

Hill will go to the Norfolk county court at Dedham, Mass., with a petition for a new hearing on recently acquired evidence tending to absolve Sacco and Vanzetti of guilt in the payroll robbery and murder seven years ago.

It was in this court that the prisoners were tried, found guilty and condemned to die.

As the court is not in session, it is expected that Hill will be able to do little more than file his petition with the clerk.

The second move will be to go before Chief Justice Arthur P. Hughes of the state supreme court with the request that a superior court judge other than Webster Thayer be assigned to hear an appeal for a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti on the ground of prejudice.

This move likewise is expected to fail. The defense, in fact, has little hope of success for any of its plans.

Failure to obtain assignment of another judge in place of Judge Thayer, who presided at the original trial and recently condemned the prisoners to death, will be followed by a petition to Judge George W. Anderson, of the federal district court here for a writ of habeas corpus.

Must Obtain Stay.

If this is obtained, it will get Sacco and Vanzetti out of their death cells, but will not save them from execution shortly after midnight on Monday.

Beadle Charges Instructions.

The defense would have told him he had been instructed to admit that he had killed Lebeouf, cut open the body, weighted it with angle irons and hid it in the Lake Palauire, or else "all three would hang."

Following this request, the deputy state attorney, Beadle, asked for separate attorneys and made his statement accusing the defense of perjury.

Louis R. Blakeman, Morgan City chief of police and brother-in-law of Mrs. Lebeouf, testified that Lebeouf had told him to go to Dr. Dreher's office and instruct him to stop passing Lebeouf's home. The physician told him, he said, that he could not go anywhere without being followed by a police officer.

He quoted Lebeouf as asserting, "If I ever catch him with my wife I'll kill him."

This statement, he said, was made ten days before the killing.

Family Life Not Happy.

The chief of police said the Lebeoufs had not lived happily for the last five years and that Lebeouf had driven his wife away from home by his drinking.

On one occasion, Blakeman said, he saw Lebeouf beating his wife. He reprimanded the man, he said, and Lebeouf told him, "We are more used to it. We are used to it. We are used to it."

"He showed me a lot of dirty dishes," the witness said.

The death penalty was asked by District Attorney Emile Vailmont in his opening argument before the jury.

"I believe I have proved as good a case of murder as ever was proved in a temple of justice," he declared.

"This is the most dastardly crime committed in the state of Louisiana and I ask you to find the guilty as charged and sentenced to be hanged."

He spoke an hour and thirty minutes.

OUTCAST

SYNOPSIS.
A band of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when supposedly she had died six months before in Italy, arrives at Great Britain, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Mimi Winchell, one of the crooks, posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter," Doris. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the gang can lay claim to. She is in reality an orphan whom Mimi has befriended. One of the crooks, nearly Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian nags Mimi by announcing he would like to marry Doris. She tells him she knows his wife is alive and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her and agrees to pay the money. She returns to London immediately, and discovers that Sir Adrian has tricked her. Somewhat disturbed by Mimi's story, Sir Adrian decides to make an investigation. His wife's former maid, Anna Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. In attempting to find her, Sir Adrian calls on Mrs. George, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information. Doris rebels at the life she is forced to lead with Mimi and her husband, Uncle Charley, and takes a job as a mannequin at Mrs. George's. Uncle Charley, ill, sends for Doris, and while she is with him he dies. She is late in returning to Mimi, George's and is scolded by madam's husband for refusing to tell where she has been. She leaves madam's house and her employer, Mimi, knowing Doris is Mrs. George's daughter, makes a demand on the dressmaker for five thousand pounds. Sir Adrian calls on Mrs. George to tell her that he has just learned of her sister's death in Italy six months ago, and that his wife had recently died. George confesses to Sir Adrian about her schemes, and offers to help her. He learns that the girl he knew as Doris Winchell is Mrs. George's daughter, and that she is at present in a London hospital, having been run down by a motor car. The hospital informs him she is out of danger. Then he calls on Mimi.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

MIMI LEAVES LONDON.

In his present ugly mood, Mimi knew it would be useless to argue with Bill. Instead she told him briefly of her interview with Shale, and she plainly displayed the fear she had of him.

"He's a devil, that's what he is," she said earnestly. "He knows everything. How he found out about Doris I can't make out."

Bill scoffed. "Easy enough," he replied. "George told him. I suppose, then he went and made inquiries. He and she's hand in glove. Look what happened to me."

"Yes, Bill, tell me," Mimi urged. Bill lit a cigarette and went into the shop, like we arranged, asked for parcels, and a nice young girl said they were all ready and she'd bring them out. I go back to my car, not wanting to be seen about more than I could help, when out comes Shale. He asks no questions, but just gets into the seat beside me. You're Mimi Gibbons, he says. "Yes, I remember you. Now, Gibbons, you can drive me straight to Mrs. Holden, who is Mrs. Winchell's expect, or to Vine street police station. Whichever you like. Well, what was I to do?"

"Go on," Mimi said, fascinated by this recital of Shale's coolness.

"Well," Bill continued disgustedly, "I started to argue, but it weren't no good. 'None of your nonsense,' says he, 'because my chauffeur's following along behind and I'm a good shot, Gibbons.' So saying he pulls a gun half out of his pocket. So I drove him. What would a done? And he blooming nearly called a copper when I said we was going to Hampstead instead of Westminster. He'd got the old address from George, you see. Well, on the way, calm as anything, he says he don't want to make trouble, if you please, and me and me's got to hop it. And—well—I've not finished with him yet."

Bill spat viciously into the fire. Mimi was frightened. "Don't do it, Bill, don't do it," she said in a shrill voice. "Leave him alone, I tell you. Remember what he said to me."

"It's Shale that'll do the remembering," Bill said savagely as he got out of his chair.

Mimi gave it up. She hoped that when Bill thought things over more calmly he would see the wisdom of getting out of the country for a month or two. To encourage this decision she talked of her own plans, how she would write to him, to his Birmingham address; where she could be found, etc. "And there'll be a good bit to come to you, Bill, in a week or so, when I've sold these furs," she added.

"Yes, and you'd better let me have some on account," he said suspiciously.

But they parted on friendly enough terms, Bill Gibbons sneaking out, furtively as he had entered. He was off to Birmingham that night. Mimi went back to her packing, including in her luggage a few small objects of value that formed part of the furnishing of the flat. Money might be hard to come by for a month or two, working alone. Mimi had no intention of neglecting an opportunity of making a few pounds.

But she smiled to herself, that characteristic crooked smile of hers, as she recalled that the owner of the flat was herself on the Riviera. Mimi hoped they would not meet at too close quarters.

She left Victoria at 11 o'clock the next morning. She had a first-class compartment to herself, and was glad of it. Her nerve were shakily shaken and she had hardly slept the previous night. At the bottom of her heart she trusted Shale. There was admiration mixed with her hatred and fear of him. He had told her he would take no action against her so long as she left by this boat train, and she believed him. But she grew anxious every time a solitary man passed by her carriage door.

There were those furs, flung so carelessly upon the seat by her side. Suppose Barsteln had suddenly grown suspicious about them. Then Bill was wanted. Perhaps some one had seen him come to the flat last night.

An inspector appeared, and Mimi had to force herself to an apparent calmness as he looked at her tickets. It was with great relief that she felt the train move at last and with no regret that she saw the tall campanile of Westminster cathedral receding as the train swung to the left after crossing the Thames. Mimi half expected Sir Adrian to have been at the station; indeed, it would have been a comfort to her had he been there—a guarantee of good faith. And as they slid through the Kentish countryside she began to wonder if perhaps he had been bluffing after all.

Was it likely that he would travel all the way to Dover just to see her off. The thought angered her. No one, man or woman, had ever before filled her with such a complete sense of inferiority as this man Shale.

Mimi fell into a kind of day dream. It would be a long time before she saw England again, she mused. And it would be difficult working alone. Poor old Charley had been useful. Better get Bill to join her as soon as possible. He could be her brother. You had so much better chance with a man about you; women, traveling alone, were always suspected.

The express roared through Ashford, joining over the points. A few minutes later a big airplane making for the air station at Lympne attracted Mimi's attention. Why shouldn't Bill fly over? Mimi asked herself. The job he was wanted for wasn't flash enough to make the Yard suspect him of traveling that way. She would write and suggest it.

Folkstone—then the tunnels. A slowing train brought her back to a sense of realities. They would be at Dover in a few minutes. Mimi began to know the fugitive's fear of crossing the gangway to the boat under the inquisitive eyes of those seemingly aimless civilians who lounged on the quay. Too many of them might know her. Keen faced men from the Yard, perhaps one would detain her on suspicion.

"I hope to heaven Shale is there," she muttered.

And he was. As the train slowed to a halt, she caught sight of him peering into the compartments as they went by. With a sense of relief she thrust her head out of the window and waved to him gaily.

He came hurrying toward her. "Ah! There you are," he said with all the sincerity of one meeting an old and welcome acquaintance. "I hoped I should be here in time. Porter—He summoned a man to take Mimi's hand luggage to the boat."

Mimi was grateful in her curious way. He was the man who made things easier. Instinctively she played up to his reading of the tragic-comedy. "Hello, Sir Adrian," she called, and gave him her sweetest smile. "How good of you to come. And what a jolly day I have, too. Do be sweet and take these. I hate to let them out of my sight."

She handed from the compartment a mink coat and the sable wrap. The other coat she was wearing. And even at that moment it gave her a feeling of amusement, as well as satisfaction, to realize that she was making Shale carry on board for her those stolen furs.

Whether Sir Adrian suspected what he was doing or not, he showed no sign, but he made his own little fuss.

"And the jewel case, Mayn't I carry that?" he asked lightly.

Mimi acknowledged the touch with a smile.

"I've had to travel so unexpectedly that I left that for my maid to bring," she answered in a flash. "You're no idea what a rush I've had."

Shale in turn acknowledged the hit with a sardonic smile.

"But you are wise to get away while you have the chance," he said. "Your health couldn't have stood the dreadful winter."

Miss Mamie Pitts suggests valuable vacation hints.

A very interesting and attractively arranged magazine issued by the Central Night school, called The Modern Girl, contains an article, written by Miss Mamie Pitts, principal of State Street school, entitled "What I Wish I Did With My Long Vacation." In this essay she gives valuable suggestions to the student. She says: "Some years ago one of our local papers offered a prize to the student who wrote the best story on 'My Happiest Vacation.' It was a real joy for me to write mine. I tried to tell the story in a simple, flowing, spontaneous way from a memory of the unforgettable joy of a midsummer vacation at sea. There is nothing more delightful than to spend 11 days on a luxurious transatlantic liner. There is always delicious food, nursing games, and people, and, above all, the ever present challenge of the mysterious sea with its weird moans and constant restlessness.

"My story featured all this and much more, and it was given the most honored 'seat' in the publication. The first column, top of page but—I was not awarded the prize. My disappointment was tragical, and I eagerly read the prize story to find in what way it surpassed mine. I soon found that this story and my effort were miles apart in subject matter. The one, recounting sacrifice and service to the other, partly prattling over the happenings of idle, self-centered days.

"So I throw out this line for you to lay hold upon in the race to the stretch before us. Be on the look-out to help. I know a girl who makes a weekly visit to six old ladies. She takes an inexpensive present, carefully selected, appealing to each one's taste. How eagerly the shut-lids look forward to this glimpse of the world outside! Try this helpful service. Be sure to let the old people do the talking. They never get out, so their stories must be something that happened far back in some distant yesterday. They may tell you the story so dear to their hearts over and over, but they have nothing else to tell, so be a good listener, and let them live again the days of a rosy, long-gone youth.

"When you visit relatives in the country, don't be 'company.' Make one of the family, and share in the family duties. Let mother be the vacationist. If just one can do this, brag to the people you visit about what you have, but brag about what they have. Leave them contented with their environments, however simple.

"We are all going to do something during the vacation, so why not do something worthwhile? This is the time to read. Read for some purpose. Decide what you would like to know a great deal about, and read many books on this subject. Biographies, plants, wild animals, countries—these subjects are merely suggestive, but be authoritative something when you return to school next September.

"They tell us that whatever interests us as young people will be our road to success if we follow it up. Have you a 'side line' that you turn to eagerly when the regular day's work is done? If so, now is your chance to develop it.

"Start something, but be certain to watch your 'starts,' for they are going to land somewhere, and we want you to land on your feet. Above all, do not waste the time. It will never come back to you."

For breakfast with eggs, coffee and griddle cakes, a few slices of fried ham give a real zest to the meal.

Ground ham dishes are popular. Left-over portions of a boiled or baked ham may be used, or a ham shank may be boiled especially for this purpose. Remove all the meat from the bone and grind it or chop it fine. Use the ground meat in any of the following ways: creamed, croquettes, escaloped, with eggs, loaf, hash, sandwiches and meat pies.

Baked Ham. Wash a whole or half ham well and soak it in cold water for one hour, or more if it is salty. Put it in fresh water, and cook it slowly for three hours. Allow it to cool in the water used for boiling. Remove the ham from the liquid, and roll it in a mixture of fine bread crumbs and brown sugar.

Stick whole cloves into the top surface of the meat. Bake the ham in a roasting pan for one and one-half to two hours. Add one-half cup of cider or water. Baste the ham with a mixture of vinegar and water.

Boiled Ham With Vegetables. A

Some prefer to boil the ham. This method of cooking requires little trouble on the part of the housewife and the result is highly satisfactory. Ham which is boiled and served with vegetables has always been one of our most popular meat dishes.

Just consider the variety of ways in which ham may be prepared. It may be baked with cloves, cider, and brown sugar, and is the basis of a real dinner which will satisfy the most particular. Hot or cold, baked ham is a real delicacy.

The left-over portions may be used for lunch the next day, or one or two days afterward, since baked ham keeps well.

Club in Chi Will Attempt To Halt Mill

Jack, in Los Angeles, Announces He Will Train Within 25 Miles of Chicago.

Chicago, August 5.—(United News).—The first serious legal attempt to block the Dempsey-Tunney fight here September 22 will be made within a few days.

B. E. Clements, matchmaker of the Coliseum club, will file a plea for an injunction to restrain Dempsey from entering the ring because of an unfulfilled contract, he had signed with Clements, according to Ralph Rosen, attorney for the promoter.

Rosen said he was confident either of preventing the fight or obtaining a settlement from the ex-champion for a comparatively large sum of money.

The injunction will be directed against Tex Rickard, George F. Getz, the millionaire sportsman, and Dempsey.

With the legal chatter is mixed training camp talk. The towns near Chicago are falling over each other in the rush to get the consent of Dempsey and Tunney to pitch camp in their particular spots. It is believed the boxers will train within reasonably close distance to Chicago and, probably, within the state boundaries.

RICKARD INSURES

TWO PRINCIPALS.
BY JACK FARRELL.
(By Leased Wire to the Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, August 5.—Tex Rickard likes to gamble—but not with the life and health of fighters he has signed to fight for the world's heavyweight championship.
Gene Tunney or Jack Dempsey, or both, may sprain a thumb, break a limb, or encounter other incapacitating mishaps before they step into Soldier's field, Chicago, for their 10-round fight on September 22. So Tex has protected himself against the unforeseen by insuring each fighter for $100,000.

The insurance policy was issued today by Lloyds, of London. It cost the promoter $8,000 but he figures that just a drop in the well-known bucket and justified by the protection it affords him. The policy became effective at once and will not expire until the fighters have climbed into the ring.

Richard is leaving for Chicago tomorrow night.

orrow with several members of his personal administrative staff, including Miss Naomi Lowensohn, his private secretary; Joe Mulvey, who will draw his plans for the seating arrangements, and Fred Holm, chief ticket seller. Tex will confer with Chicago officials on Sunday on the ticket distribution plans and other important matters pertaining to the fight. He will return on Tuesday and remain here until after the Delaney-Uzcudun fight on Thursday night at the Yankee stadium.

Laughs At Injunction.
Rickard laughed aloud today when informed that B. E. Clements, the enterprising Chicagoan who attempted to promote a Dempsey-Wills fight, was planning to enjoin Dempsey from fighting Tunney. Clements wants Jack to go through with the Wills fight.

Jack Mooney Wins Third Cotton States Net Title

Wins Out Over Malon Courts In Final Round

Mooney Defeats Fellow Atlantan in Straight Sets at 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

Anniston, Ala., August 5.—(Special.)—Jack Mooney, of Atlanta, won his third consecutive Cotton States tennis title when he defeated a fellow townsman, Malon Courts, in the finals this afternoon at 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

Mooney's chop-stroke proved too much again for the young Atlanta flash, but Courts, nevertheless, put up a hard and stubborn battle. Each point was fought for and Courts' hard returns kept Mooney looking lively.

Courts played a hard match with "Lefty" Bryan, of Chattanooga, this morning to decide the man who would face Mooney in the finals. The two had been tied at it Thursday afternoon when darkness called a halt to the score in sets standing at 2-1.

This morning's match was the best two out of three sets and Courts won out in a hard battle, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Courts had plenty of speed left when he went into the match with Mooney, and was making smashing kills at the net with his usual accuracy. Mooney got his base-line drives, with a mean chop to them, working, and kept Courts away from the net as much as possible.

Mooney went into the finals by defeating Carey Wilmer, also of Atlanta, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1, Thursday afternoon.

John Thomas, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Courts won the doubles championship by defeating Jack Mooney and Colonel Waite C. Johnson, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, in the finals.

Thomas and Courts won their way to the finals by defeating Jim Mooney and Harry Gault, both of Atlanta, in the semi-finals this morning, 6-4, 6-1.

Mooney and Colonel Johnson had defeated "Lefty" Bryan and Fay Murphy, of Chattanooga, 6-1, 6-4, in the semi-finals.

"Lefty" Bryan, of Chattanooga, won the singles title in the junior division by defeating Luther Combs, Mt. Sterling, Ky., 6-1, 6-4.

Bryan and W. J. Young, Birmingham, won the junior doubles championship by defeating Combs and Earl Senff, also of Mt. Sterling, Ky., 6-1, 6-4.

Diegel Leading In Canada Open

Toronto, Ont., August 5.—(P)—The field competing in the Canadian open golf championship today was reduced from 151 to 70 with Leo Diegel, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., marching in front of the pack with a score of 142 for the two days' play of 36 holes.

The final 36 holes will be played off tomorrow. All contestants with scores of more than 162 were eliminated.

Diegel, who was champion in 1921 and 1923, had a two-stroke advantage over his near rivals, Walter Hagen, of Detroit, and Johnny Farrell, of Mt. Vernon, who had 144. Tommy Armour, Washington, and Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, were deadlocked

"LIVELY BALL DETRIMENT TO GAME" -- WALT JOHNSON

Ever since the birth of the "first rumor" regarding the introduction of the lively or "rabbit" ball into the big leagues the question of its effect on the game in general has been discussed pro, con and crosswise. The lively ball, of course, gave the batter his day—eliminated the frequent pitchers' battles which bobbed up years ago. But the answer of the baseball heads has been that the public is getting what it likes—hitting.

Now Walter Johnson speaks on the subject.

Lively Ball Hurts.
"The lively ball takes real baseball out of baseball."
That is the Big Train's opinion. Need we go further, as the spellbinders say?
No, we need not.

If there is one man qualified to discuss baseball, especially the pitcher's end, he is Johnson. He hurried through the period of trick pitching which preceded the development of the rabbit ball. He saw the home run grow from the "rarity" to the usual climax to the daily matinee. He has pitched under all the modern restrictions and conditions.

A Few Points.
He points out that the pitchers were handicapped sufficiently some years ago with the elimination of the trick deliveries and the use of foreign substances. This move in itself more than equalized the advantages the hurler had held. Then came the ball with the terrific hop to it. This truly gave the batter the upper hand.

"There is no doubt but what they have gone too far in the way of favoring the batters as against the pitchers," says Walter.

And then, to show that his faith in the game has remained unshaken through years of scandal, intrigue and so-called commercialism the big veteran says he believes that a "happy medium" will be found eventually.

There is no need of going further in search of the true light on the baseball situation.

Shields in Forest Hills Final Round

Forest Hills, N. Y., August 5.—(P)—Western opposition crumpled before a hardy eastern attack today as players in the national junior and boys' tennis championship advanced into the final play.

The finals for the junior singles crown will find Frank Shields facing Julius Seligson tomorrow afternoon. The boys' singles championship will rest between R. P. Krendy, of Lancaster, Pa., and William Jacobs, of Baltimore.

Shields advanced by virtue of a victory over Dolph Muelheisen, of San Diego, Calif., 6-1, 7-5, while Seligson vanquished Robert Sellers, of San Francisco, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1, in the other semi-final.

In the doubles final for the boys' division Krendy and Karl Kamrath, of Austin, Texas, defeated F. R. Martin, of Bloomfield, N. J., and George Allison, Jr., 6-0, 6-3.

Tilden Beats Hunter For Seabright Title

Big Bill and Molla Lose in Mixed Doubles To Mrs. A. H. Chapin and Partner in Semi-Finals.

Seabright, N. J., August 5.—(AP)—Francis T. Hunter is still the junior partner in the international firm of Tilden and Hunter. William T. Tilden today scored a straight set victory over his comrade of a recent European invasion at 6-4, 6-1, 8-6.

The stake was the Seabright men's singles bowl which Tilden has not won since 1910 and he cast aside all play acting today to put his most guileful game against the powerful, driving attack of the stocky Hunter. Even though playing at the crest of a wave of remarkable success, Hunter never was a match for Tilden of today, who was Tilden at his best.

In the final for the women's doubles title, another long reigning favorite of the courts played brilliant tennis to gain new laurels.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, national champion, paired with Miss Kea Bouman, of Holland, champion of France, scored decisive victory over Mrs. Charlotte H. Chapin, of Hyannis, Mass., and Miss Margaret Blake, of Boston, scores were 6-3, 7-5.

When partnered together in mixed doubles, however, the rackets of Tilden and Mrs. Mallory lost their cunning and they were beaten in the semi-finals by Mrs. Chapin and Arnold W. Jones, of Providence, by 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Paired with Jones a few hours previously in the play off of the Rhode Island state mixed doubles final, which had been halted by rain at Providence three weeks before, Mrs. Chapin shared in the victory over Mrs. William Endicott, Boston, and George Lott, Chicago, at 13-20, 12-10, 7-5.

When the contest was adjourned at Providence the score had stood at 16 all and the teams were nearly as closely matched today.

Miss Blake and Lewis N. White, of Austin, Texas, won the second mixed doubles semi-final at 2-6, 7-5, 7-5 from Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, of Boston, and Cranston Holman, of California.

"I'm glad I followed the advice of Mary Garden"

Margery Bailey is telling her companion, Ed Wagner, as he offers her a Lucky Strike between tennis matches at Forest Hills.

Marvelous Mary Garden writes:

"My teachers, Trabello and Richard Bartelemey, all impressed upon me the solemn warning that I must always treat my throat as a delicate instrument. Yet every artist is under constant strain. Sometimes we get real relaxation in smoking a cigarette. I prefer Lucky Strikes—which both protects the throat and gives real enjoyment."

Shad Gardner

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

GRANDCIRCUIT
CLOSES SEASON
AT MANSFIELD

Mansfield, Ohio, August 5.—(AP)—Mansfield's grand circuit meeting came to a close today with three races, two of which were won in straight heats by outsiders.

Ruth T. Dewey Axworth and Red Cross were the winners on the final race of the week. The closest contest was won by the first race, the special 2:00 pace, when Leroy Gratian, heavy favorite, and Ruth T.

The Gratian stallion, with Stephan T. stuck his nose under the wire a winner in the first heat, but Ruth T. with Whitehead piloting, came back in the last two miles to reverse the tables and haul off the first money.

The Nugget and Peter Cowl were the favorites in the special trot before the horses lined up, but Dewey Axworth surprised the crowd by trotting home an easy winner in all three heats.

Red Cross was easily the class of the claiming race, the last event on the program, winning in three successive heats.

Bridegroom Is Executed

SALVATORE MERRA PROTESTS INNOCENCE TO LAST: 80 Hours After Wedding

Trenton, N. J., August 5.—(United News)—Salvatore Merri, the condemned bridegroom, was put to death in the electric chair at the state prison tonight, 80 hours after his dramatic death wedding.

Merri died protesting his innocence of the murder of Theodore Conway, a public service paymaster, for whose death he was convicted along with his cousin, Salvatore Rannelli, who is serving a life sentence.

Merri was married last Tuesday to Miss Jennie Tupodi, the common-law wife who had borne him a son. While the 3-year-old boy played with guards in the corridor of the death house, Miss Tupodi reached through the bars of Merri's cell and took his hand while a priest read the marriage service in the presence of other inmates of death row.

Merri slipped a ring onto his bride's finger but did not kiss her. He was satisfied to give her the son his name and then go back to his cot to await the doom which would make his bride a widow.

A day after the strange ceremony, Mrs. Merri was evicted from her home for nonpayment of rent.

An unusually large number of witnesses were in the death chamber when Merri's life was snuffed out at 8:16 p. m., attracted no doubt by the wide publicity resulting from the death-house wedding.

After being strapped in the chair, Merri said: "I am dying innocent. My cousin is also innocent. I am dying for the sake of Christ."

Just before the current was turned on Merri's lips moved again.

"Pray for my children," he said. Besides the young son he is survived by a daughter by a previous marriage.

Although she was refused admittance to the prison today for a last visit with the condemned man, Mrs. Merri arranged with a Trenton undertaker to claim his body, which she will have buried Saturday in a Trenton cemetery.

Reliable Optical Service

After your oculist has scientifically examined your eyes for glasses, you should be as careful in the selection of your glasses as you were in the selection of your oculist. There are many patients sadly disappointed in their glasses, and lay all the blame on their oculist, when in many cases the fault is in the material and workmanship furnished by the oculist. It requires just as much knowledge and skill to make a pair of glasses correctly as it does to make a correct examination of the eye.

Ask your oculist about us and our ability, if you do not already know.

MORAL: Have your prescription for glasses filled at Ballard's. Two reliable, exclusive optical stores. No side lines.

BIG COOP MARKETING ASSOCIATION PLANNED

Houston, Texas, August 5.—(AP)—Early organization of a rice cooperative marketing association to be composed of growers in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, was endorsed at a meeting of 50 Texas growers in the chamber of commerce here Friday afternoon. A similar meeting in Lake Charles, La., a week ago took the same action. No objections to the plan were anticipated in Arkansas.

The association will have as its primary object the collection from the three states of from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bags of rice, which is estimated to constitute the exportable surplus over domestic needs. It will undertake to dispose of the rice abroad through old channels or to discover new ones.

A tentative draft of the contract which planters in the three states will be asked to sign calls for each planter to pool with the association 25 per cent of his crop. The rice growers at the meeting today, however, agreed it should be reduced to 20 per cent.

Among those who took the initiative in the move were Abe Kaplan, of Crowley, La., reputed to be the largest rice planter in the world.

NORFOLK PAINTER SHOOTS WIFE THEN SELF; MAY RECOVER

Raleigh, N. C., August 5.—(AP)—Charged with slaying his wife and then putting a bullet through his brain, Dorsey St. Clair Hamilton, 47, Norfolk, Va., a painter, today is in a Raleigh hospital with what physicians termed "an even chance to recover."

The shooting took place at the home of Charlie Howard, farmer, eight miles from Raleigh. Mrs. Hamilton, widow of Alonzo Howard, a brother of Charlie, was visiting in the home.

There were no eye-witnesses to the shooting. Mary Howard, 17, daughter of Mrs. Hamilton, reported that she saw her step-father, approaching the house but before she could tell her mother, Hamilton entered and found his wife lying on a couch.

"So you are getting a divorce, are you, Nannie?" Hamilton is quoted as saying.

Hamilton is alleged to have then fired.

FATE OF ARKANSAN NOW RESTS WITH JURY

The case was given to the jury at 10:15 p. m., after a night session during which the arguments were presented.

RUNNING BOARD RIDE FATALLY INJURES BOY

Cleveland, Tenn., August 5.—(AP)—John Scott, 21, of Knoxville, was fatally injured while standing on the running board of an automobile when he came in contact with a telephone pole and was caught under a rear wheel of the car. The accident took place late Wednesday night about ten miles east of here on the Cleveland-Charleston detour road. Scott was rushed to the Speck hospital, where he died at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

INDIAN PRISONERS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Indianapolis, Ind., August 5.—(United News)—Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League for 25 years, was held guilty of contempt by the Indiana supreme court today for criticizing its rulings on prohibition cases almost two years ago.

The opinion of the court was divided three to two, Justice Willard B. Gemmill, of Marion, and Justice Clarence M. Martin, of Indianapolis, dissenting. The trial held that Dr. Shumaker was guilty of intimidating it by threatening defeat of its members at the polls.

James E. Martin, attorney for the league, also was held in contempt, but Ethan A. Miles, another attorney, was found not guilty.

Immediate arrest of Dr. Shumaker was ordered.

Dr. Shumaker is in Indianapolis and may report in court Saturday morning. He is liable to a fine and a jail sentence, or both, of which he may be imposed in addition to a reprimand by the court.

Shortly after announcement of the decision, Dr. Shumaker told the United States marshal that he would appeal to a higher court.

He will not appeal from a prison sentence, he said, although he can ask Governor Ed Jackson for a pardon. There is no precedent, however, which prevents the governor from issuing a pardon without application.

"I am ready to go to prison," the protestant said.

Contempt charges were filed March 10, 1926, by Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom. Martin and Miles also were cited for having cooperated in dragging up Dr. Shumaker's 1925 report, upon which the charges were based. The report was printed in pamphlet form and distributed.

It said the governor general had been "inefficient." Gilliom wrote the 53 trustees of the league, citing this and other statements which he believed were in contempt of the supreme and other courts and demanded an apology. He received an answer, signed by "A Trustee," which upheld the Shumaker report on the ground of a constitutional right of free speech.

Upon receipt of this communication, contempt charges were filed. The court appointed six attorneys as friends of the court. They were George O. Dix of Terre Haute; Moses R. Laird, who has since died; Fred C. Gause and C. C. Shirley, all of Indianapolis; Edgar B. Stetson, of New Albany; and Dan W. Sims, of Lafayette. On July 5, 1926, they handed down their opinion, holding the Shumaker report in contempt, and said the plaintiffs for the defense had failed to purge Shumaker. However, they found Miles and Martin not in contempt.

The report criticized, in general, prohibition rulings in the state, and said:

"We think such rulings, coupled with the splitting of judicial hairs in many cases coming before the supreme court whereby substantial justice has been defeated repeatedly, have been to a great degree responsible for the great increase in the appeals of criminal cases to our state's highest tribunal."

Gilliom has asserted that Dr. Shumaker, a minister, had sought to build a political and personal hegemony over civil government and over the supreme court.

TRAIN HITS AUTO; FATHER, 2 GIRLS DIE; 2 ESCAPE

Knoxville, Tenn., August 5.—(AP)—Miss Williams, of Bearden, Tenn., and two daughters, Nadine and Ruth, were instantly killed today when their automobile was struck by the Memphis Special, fast passenger train of the South railway, at a grade crossing a few miles from here.

Mrs. Williams and a second daughter escaped death but were seriously injured. They were brought to a hospital here.

Officers investigating the crash believed a heavy rain prevented occupants of the automobile from seeing the approaching train.

Buffington Draws Conviction in Bank Robbery at Pendergrass

Jefferson, Ga., August 5.—(Special)—Jamie Buffington today was convicted in Jackson county superior court of participation in the recent bank robbery at Pendergrass, near here, and was sentenced to serve from five to ten years in the penitentiary.

The robbery of the Pendergrass bank a few months ago was spectacular in its nature, taking place on a day when quite a number of the citizens of the small town were in Jefferson attending a conference. An improvised sort of cash in sight, escaped in automobiles.

Buffington was apprehended in Florida and was returned to Jefferson for trial.

"Conjured" by Negress, Man Is "Unconjured" By Young Grady Doctor

H. E. Sanders, 42, a carpenter, of 304 Lindse street, appeared at Grady hospital clinic Friday afternoon complaining of a pain in the neck.

"Doctor, a negro woman 'conjured' me, and my neck hurts something awful," was his statement to Dr. Tomlinson, the physician said.

Thorough examination of Sanders' tonsils, throat, ears and neck gave negative results, and a thoroughly puzzled young physician finally was ready to give it up as a bad job.

Then a bright thought came to the young doctor.

"I'm going to cross-conjure you, and break the spell the negro woman cast," he said, and his patient's neck pain went down and the "spell" on the run.
